

Disclaimers for Australians Remembered Roll of Honour Booklet:

The information contained within this Roll of Honour booklet is derived from the Roll of Honour authorised by the Australian War Memorial. The Roll of Honour is reviewed annually and updated by the Australian War Memorial as new information is verified, and eligibility criteria are assessed. The information presented in this publication reflects the Roll of Honour as it was current and available at the time of publication. Eligibility criteria and inclusion within the Roll of Honour are determined solely by the Australian War Memorial Council.

This publication is intended as a commemorative and historical resource, recognising the service, sacrifice and contribution of Australian service personnel. The names included within this booklet acknowledge individuals who gave their lives in service during times of conflict and peacekeeping. This publication contains the names of deceased Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Peoples.

The inclusion of the poems "In Flanders Fields" by John McCrae and the "Ode of Remembrance" from "For the Fallen" by Laurence Binyon is presented with respect and in recognition of the service and sacrifice of those who have served. These works are reproduced for commemorative, educational and historical purposes. All rights remain with the respective copyright holders where applicable.

The phrase "Lest We Forget", originating from Rudyard Kipling's 1897 hymn "The Recessional", is a protected registered trademark in Australia, owned by The Returned & Services League of Australia Limited.

The word "Anzac" or "ANZAC" is protected under the Department of Veterans' Affairs Protection of Word "Anzac" Regulations 1921. Use of the word "Anzac" in connection with any entertainment, trade, business, calling or profession requires approval from the Minister for Veterans' Affairs. Any commercial use of the word "Anzac", including in connection with the production or sale of goods, requires appropriate permission.
